Norcom Finance Company

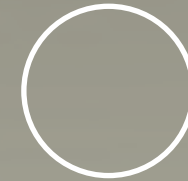

The deployment of, and long term, visionary dedication to, a communication initiative is an imperative to achieving and enduring success. There is also a balance to consider-between mature and emerging technologies. Continuous assessment and modification ensures the stability of the network and maintains pace with the nanosecond velocity at which our world moves and demands increase. A financial commitment of significance both to the initial directive and progressive development is necessary. Our clients seek to apportion these dollars intelligently in terms of the finance structure, in line with the economic philosophy of the company.

Norcom Finance Company was established with this understanding and to provide innovative vehicles designed to maximize the use of our clients' resources.

NFC is a unifying entity, constructed to accompany our paramount mandate to build and nurture a comprehensive experience in partnership with our clients; from the development of the infrastructure to the manner in which financial arrangements are made.

Norcom Finance Company, together with our underlying administrator, Great America Leasing Corporation (GALC)—the largest independently owned small to mid-size business leasing company in the domestic US, presents an impassioned best practice methodology to provide advanced creative finance packages and a standard of excellence in overall and detail service.

Traditional Capital Lease options are offered with competitive rates and terms. In the event a custom financing structure is needed, we can work with our clients to address specific circumstances.

A specialized Operating Lease program is offered as a highly desirable finance design in which all elements of the communication system are provided for in a monthly payment, including maintenance and insurance. Subsequent additions to the platform environment are simply included in the monthly payment in order to preclude any substantial cash outlay. This program complements an ever-changing communication terrain, allowing for incorporating new technologies without an upfront investment.

Norcom Finance Company, with GALC and LCC, provides a unique channel to our clients to support the creation and ongoing evolution of the critical systems forging the business.
